NEW

SOLUTION™

Solution™ did not begin with a quest to sell cleaning and disinfecting chemicals, but instead started with research to determine why certain salons and spas continually had equipment breakdowns and failures, while others seemed to run efficiently for extended periods. One common cause of equipment problems that was uncovered was the use and misuse of cleaning chemicals, or the use of harsh chemicals.

Examples of chemical impact on equipment. No matter what equipment you look at in your salon or spa, it consists of materials like plastics (including PVC in plumbing), vinyl, wood, rubber, chrome, brass and many other metals.

- Disinfectants that have high concentrations of ether will act as solvents softening plastics, PVC, neoprene and vinyl. This leads to deforming of parts, normally resulting in leaks or parts simply not fitting correctly.
- Acetone destroys most plastics, vinyl and even ABS.
- Disinfectants that are primarily sodium hypochlorite, including chlorine bleach, will strip chrome and brass, erode steel, stainless steel and damage rubber and various grades of nylon.

Chrome and plastic parts after 100 hours of testing.
